Jeffrey P. Angers

Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army
(Military Personnel)
Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army
(Manpower and Reserve Affairs)
Washington, DC

Mr. Jeffrey Angers assumed duties of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army (Military Personnel) on 16 September 2019. In this role, Mr. Angers provides policy, supervision, and oversight of military human resources programs including, medical and health affairs, recruiting and retention, Army protection, and casualty affairs for the Total Force. Prior to taking this position, Mr. Angers served as the Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army (Force Management, Manpower, and Resources) overseeing the allocation of $100 billion/year in Army manning and training programs and serving as the Secretariat lead for the Army's force management and manpower management processes.

Mr. Angers has over 30 years of experience in the defense community. After receiving his commission in 1987, he spent his Army career serving in multiple diverse assignments. This included serving as a Platoon Leader in a Special Weapons Artillery Detachment and an Assistant Operations Officer in an Ordnance Brigade – both in Cold War Germany. After returning to the states, Mr. Angers commanded an Explosive Ordnance Disposal Company at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey. Following graduate school, he served as the Executive Officer and an Assistant Professor of Economics in the Department of Social Sciences, United States Military Academy.

Mr. Angers' spent the end of his military career primarily in and around the Pentagon. He served as a logistics analyst in the Program Analysis and Evaluation Directorate on the Army Staff, an Army Fellow at the RAND Corporation, and a senior economic and manpower analyst in Program Analysis and Evaluation, Office of the Secretary of Defense. After retiring from the Army in 2007, he spent the next two years with Booz Allen Hamilton, working primarily manpower and performance management issues. In 2009, Mr. Angers accepted his first civil service position in Office of the Secretary of Defense's Defense Language Office. From October 2009 through May 2012, he served as the Director, Business Innovation in Army's Office of Business Transformation before moving to the ASA(M&RA) in June 2012 where he served as the Director of the Strategic Integration for over five years.

Mr. Angers completed the Army Senior Executive Education Program Basic Course and the Harvard Senior Executive Fellows Program. He earned a Masters of Business Administration from the Sloan School of Management, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a Bachelor of Science in Economics from the United States Military Academy.
